

Dear Student,

We're delighted you're interested in taking Professor Watt's exciting new course "Common Sense vs. Data Science in Communications Research and Practice" this coming fall. A full description of it and all our wonderful COMM classes can be found on our website HERE.

Professor Watts will be finalizing his syllabus over the summer. For now, I can tell you that this class will be mostly discussion based, with weekly reading reports to be submitted ahead of time and a rotating presentation schedule whereby students will be assigned to lead off discussions with some prepared comments. There will be a final paper but no exams.

If you need more information about this or any other Comm course, feel free to reach out directly to me.

Best,

Dr. Litty
