REQUIRED TEXTS/READING MATERIALS:

- Environmental Law: Examples and Explanations - by Steven Ferrey (Aspen Publishers - 9th edition.) 978-1-5438-5007-9.
- “A Civil Action” – Jonathan Harr
- Additional course reading materials provided on CANVAS

COURSE OVERVIEW:

This survey course presents environmental law in a new, accessible and thought-provoking manner. It focuses on the role of environmental professionals in the regulatory process and is designed to provide environmental professionals with a foundation in environmental law that will enable them to better serve the interest of their private clients, work productively with environmental attorneys and effectively represent individuals and businesses before governmental regulators. Numerous articles are posted every day in newspapers, magazines, professional journals and media outlets throughout the world concerning the impacts of pollution on environmental resources, wildlife and public health. Environmental matters have become an important issue for voters, businesses in conducting their commercial operations, property owners seeking to develop real estate, NGOs working to prioritize environmental issues for governmental regulators, and members of the public concerned about the future of their families. Environmental laws are the primary tools that governments utilize to prevent, minimize and mitigate harmful impacts from such pollution. Environmental professionals (e.g., consultants, planners, engineers, inspectors, compliance officers, NGO representatives, policymakers) play a central role in the implementation and ultimate success of these laws. The practical aspects of environmental law will be addressed with the use of case studies. A variety of focus topics will be explored: regulation of e-waste; environmental justice; Flint, Michigan drinking water crisis; VW defeat device scandal; and the regulation and control of Greenhouse Gases. A number of important federal environmental statutes will be studied: Clean Air Act; Clean Water Act; CERCLA; RCRA; NEPA; and the Safe Drinking Water Act. Finally, students will read the book “A Civil Action” which will be the focus of class discussions about the interactions between environmental professionals, victims of environmental pollution, environmental attorneys and the legal system.

COURSE FORMAT:

Grading - Grades for the class will be based upon the following:

- | | |
|--|-----|
| - 4 News Analysis (2.5 points each) | 10% |
| - Class Participation | 05% |
| - A Civil Action Paper and Class Discussion | 30% |

UNIVERSITY POLICIES

DIVERSITY, EQUITY, AND INCLUSION

The Earth and Environmental Science Department embraces human diversity and intends equity and inclusion in our community and our classrooms. We expect instructors, staff, and students to respect our diversity. We encourage you to contact our Climate, Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (CDEI) Committee at ees-cdeic@groups.sas.upenn.edu if you need support or have suggestions for how our efforts in EES can improve.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY & GENERATIVE AI

Students are expected to be familiar with and comply with Penn's Code of Academic Integrity, which is available in the Pennbook. This course has a zero-tolerance policy for cheating or plagiarism, and all violations will result in substantial penalties. If you have any doubts or questions about what constitutes academic misconduct, please do not hesitate to contact me. AI programs, such as ChatGPT, may be used for generating ideas and brainstorming, to supplement your own ideas and research. However, the final output of any work should reflect your own understanding, analysis, and synthesis of the material. You may not submit any work generated by an AI program within an assignment. If you use AI as part of your prep work for an assignment, you are required to disclose its use and appropriately cite all sources. Failure to do so will be a violation of the Penn's Code of Academic Integrity (see above). AI is a tool and should be used as such; it should not replace your own creativity and independent thinking. AI will not necessarily give the best explanation or answer to your questions, and often the material(s) generated may be inaccurate, based on outdated information, or completely fabricated. Using AI should supplement your learning experience, not replace your intellectual work. Your engagement with the content in this course is essential in creating a rich learning environment and for developing critical skills in environmental studies.

CLASS ETIQUETTE

In-person class sessions, including office hours, should be spaces where everyone feels welcome and safe. In order to facilitate a welcoming and inclusive environment, it is expected that every student in this course will:

- Exercise consideration and respect in their speech and actions.
- Attempt collaboration and consideration, including listening to differing perspectives and respectfully raising any concerns, avoiding direct conflict.
- Refrain from demeaning, discriminatory, or harassing behavior and speech.

Please consider the following expectations when communicating in the online environment, such as on Canvas.

Please do:

- Ask questions and engage in conversations as often as possible.
- Be patient and respectful of others and their ideas they post online.
- Be prepared to wait for a response - you may not receive an immediate response.
- Contact the instructor to report inappropriate or offensive communications.

Please avoid:

- Using inappropriate language—this includes, but is not limited to, the use of hurtful and offensive terms.
- Posting inappropriate materials—this includes, but is not limited to, sharing nude, offensive, and graphic images.
- Posting in ALL CAPS, as this is perceived as shouting.
- Sending or respond to heated messages.
- Sending an email to the entire class, unless it requires a response from all classmates.

DISABILITY DISCLOSURE

The University of Pennsylvania provides reasonable accommodations to students with disabilities who have self-identified and been approved by the Office of Student Disabilities Services (SDS). If you have not yet contacted SDS and would like to request accommodations or have questions, you can make an appointment by calling SDS at 215-573-9235 or by visiting their website: <https://www.vpul.upenn.edu/lrc/>. The office is in the Weingarten Learning Resources Center at Stouffer Commons, 3702 Spruce Street, Suite 300. All services are confidential. I will make every effort to ensure that your needs are accommodated so that you can fully participate in this class. A helpful summary of everyone's roles and responsibilities to ensure your needs are accommodated can be found here.
