

School of Arts & Sciences Prospectus

Course ID and 7-digit Number: KORN 0500-001 (TR 10:15 AM-11:44 AM)

Course Description and Level

Korean 0500 aims to enable students to communicate in Korean with functional grammatical accuracy and socio-linguistic appropriateness on various subjects and to become an independent language learner beyond classroom setting. This course expands listening and reading skills with slightly more emphasis on speaking and writing skills. Class topics include food and life, MZ generation and snack culture, troubles and concerns, Korean language in the world, etc. Upon completion of the course, students are expected to obtain the Intermediate High level of proficiency based on the ACTFL (American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages) proficiency scale.

Pre-requisite: Completion of KORN 0400/0420 or equivalent proficiency, as demonstrated by the Korean Language Placement Test

Weekly Schedule and typical workload

The weekly schedule and typical workload are as follows:

	Workload	Requirements
Tuesday	1.5-2 hrs	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Study class materials and complete homework assignments before attending class from 10:15-11:44 AM.• Take a lesson quiz or vocabulary quiz.
Thursday	1.5-2 hrs	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Study class materials and complete homework assignments before attending class from 10:15-11:44 AM.
Friday - Monday	1.5-2 hrs	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Complete individual or group work (e.g., short writing, reading, video recording, group conversation activities, etc.).

Please note that this class format is subject to change based on students' and instructional needs.

Outline of Assignments & Assessments

- Attendance and Class Participation 10%
- Homework Assignments & Mini Tasks 35%
- Vocabulary Quizzes 5%
- Lesson Quizzes 20%
- Oral Interview 10%
- Project (Public Service Announcement) 10%
- E-Portfolio 10%

Textbook

- Moon, Jihye, Cho, Haewon, Lee, Jaehong, & Shin, Hae Young. (2024). Topics in Korean Languages and Cultures 1. London: Routledge